Sometimes I imagine that shopping is a sport, part game and part physical activity. You hit the mall or your keyboard, cruise or click for the winning article of clothing or accessory, possibly try it on, and hope to score a deal. It's fun, but it's also exhausting, particularly for the budget-minded shopper constantly bombarded by clothes that look great now but will look hopelessly dated next year (or even as soon as a couple of months).

Enter Shabby Apple, an online retailer of women's clothing of the more classic and feminine variety. They offer equally stylish little girl's clothing as well.

Shabby Apple's eighteen collections are broken up into two main categories, "vintage-inspired" and "boutique collections." We're featuring three dresses below, which you can win!

The dress pictured above is called "Le Couer" from the Oh La La Collection. The top is made of cozy jersey, and the dress cinches flatteringly at the waist above three ruffle tiers in a floral print. I love the easy-breezy quality of it – owing to the simple cut and bright mango/pomegranate print. The punchy colors also mean that this dress transitions well from spring to summer.

From the All That Jazz collection, we have “Moon River,” a dress whose boat neck and three-tiered peplum (that short skirt mid-dress) conjures up jazz lounges in the 1940s. The retro forties and fifties look is definitely in, thanks to TV shows like Mad Men. But even if it weren't, this dress will make you look as poised and chic as an Audrey Hepburn film.

Last but not least, here's “Azure Coast” from the aptly named Classics collection. The high cinched waist of this faux wrap dress is flirty and flattering, and the cut is really versatile for a wide range of body types. The pretty gathering at the dress's collar is another nod to retro fashions. And I love that it's no drab, dull color but a mature, rich shade of blue. I can completely imagine myself wearing it to the office – albeit with slightly shorter high heels!

One lucky winner gets to pick between these three Shabby Apple dresses!
